Prist® Brand Name Usage Statement

Prist Aerospace is the leading global supplier of aviation fuel system icing inhibitor. We are also very proud to be a key supplier to the US Military and our allies. We have worked hard over the years to establish ourselves as a leader in the aviation industry. As such, we value our reputation and place in the market and must take the necessary steps to protect our valuable brand name.

It is an incredible compliment to have the Prist® brand name to be used synonymously with aviation anti-icing additive. However, the Prist® brand can only be used by customers who are supplying genuine Prist® Hi-Flash™. This applies to the use of the Prist® brand name on any documentation, marketing correspondences, web sites, trade publications as well as in conversation with suppliers and customers.

If you are not currently supplying your customers with genuine Prist® Hi-Flash™, we are happy to work with you in providing the very best products, service and support.

We thank our loyal customers and welcome any questions or comments. Please let us know how we can support you regarding this specific issue or in becoming a Prist® customer.
